

Devices and Methods for Microorganism Detection

Abstract of the Disclosure

- A device that includes at least two chambers separated by an activatable seal
- 5 wherein upon activation of the seal the two chambers are in communication, and further wherein at least one chamber of the device includes a biological assay reagent and methods of using same.

0943455, 110599